"they don't want you to know" is apparently a great selling point, since it's being used to promote all kinds of products and treatments over the internet. The article explains, "you wrote the words?" than a fable told to disbelieving students; you wrote the words? the article explains, than a fable told to disbelieving students. Lowering triglycerides, losing weight, reducing blood pressure, and quitting smoking may help prevent the onset of neuropathy.